

PELELIU EXPRESS & YELLOW WALL

Dive Site:

- Yellow wall is a vertical wall that runs parallel to the southern tip of Peleliu Island
- Yellow Wall is named after the golden yellow tube corals that cover the wall along this area of the reef
- The reef has a number of crevices, arches and small caverns to explore
- At approximately 100 feet the reef forms a plateau before dropping off thousands of feet
- The Peleliu Express is famous for its ripping currents that can seemingly come out of nowhere and change direction without warning. When the current is running, this site is considered the ultimate in drift dives. During Full & New moon the currents are more severe

Marine Life:

- The strong currents at this point attract many Pelagics, like Sharks, Barracuda, Tuna, Rays, huge Giant groupers & Napoleon Wrasse, Oriental Sweetlips, Palette Surgeonfish & large Rainbow Runners.
- Schools of Jacks, Snapper, Red-Toothed Triggerfish, Anthias and Pyramid Butterfly fish along the edge
- The top of the reef abounds with Sweetlips, Emperors, wrasse, & groupers
- Green & Hawksbill turtles eat the yellow tube corals
- Rare sightings of Blue Marlins, Sailfish, Whale sharks, pods of Sperm Whales, Pilot Whales & Orcas
